

TRUCE IS ARRANGED IN IRELAND

TRY TO REOPEN TOWNLEY BANKRUPTCY

TESTIMONY IS TAKEN BEFORE REFEREE HERE

E. B. McCutcheon For Creditors
Reopens Case Fought Over
Three Years Ago

CLAIMS NEW EVIDENCE
Trustee For Creditors Summons
J. W. Brinton to Appear
This Afternoon

Additional testimony will be taken in the A. C. Townley bankruptcy case.

E. B. McCutcheon, of Minot, attorney for creditors, following the submission of the J. W. Brinton perjury case to the jury, summoned Brinton to appear before H. F. O'Hare, referee in bankruptcy, this afternoon to give testimony.

The summons, McCutcheon said, was issued because of Brinton's testimony regarding Townley's alleged ownership in various league corporations. J. R. Waters also will be summoned to give testimony, Mr. McCutcheon said.

McCutcheon, who is trustee for creditors, came to Bismarck from Minot with Francis Murphy, his attorney. McCutcheon said that the creditors held claims amounting to about $80,000.

He declared that the Brinton and Waters evidence was not the only evidence which caused the reopening of the bankruptcy case, which attracted wide attention in 1918. He asserted that independent investigation had uncovered other valuable evidence.

McCutcheon served notice on Attorney-General William Lemke of the intention to take testimony, but Mr. Lemke was out of the city, and the testimony was to be taken ex-parte.

FOOTBALL STARS SHOVELING COAL

State College, Pa., July 9.—Penn State's football stars are hardening up their gridiron muscles early.

Captain George Shell of the varsity eleven is hauling coal during the summer months. He swings a "mean" shovel and will be in great shape to charge from his position at fullback this fall, declares Coach Bezik.

Charles Beck, another star of the Penn State team in 1920, is also keeping in trim by handling a coal shovel. Beck is ineligible for football this year, but is captain of the boxing team.

FOUR CHARGED WITH MURDER TO BE PLACED ON WITNESS STAND IN MURDER TRIAL, LAWYER SAYS

Hettinger, N. D., July 9.—(AP)—Nothing is concealed and nothing is out of the whole story to tell and to tell to the jury, said Attorney J. P. Sullivan in the M. K. Bowen murder trial here stating the position of the defense.

"That is why a few precedents in legal practice will be broken. We will place each and everyone of the persons accused of murder on the witness stand," the attorney added. Four persons are charged with the murder of the Golden Valley County rancher D. R. Offley is now on trial and with the opening of the defense yesterday E. W. Taylor was placed on the stand. He declared he had shot Bowen. "Shot, I don't know how many times, until he dropped. If I hadn't he would have killed me. I killed Offley and perhaps all of us."

Is Cross-Examined
Late yesterday afternoon he was cross-examined by L. A. Simpson, leading counsel for the state. He repeated his story and held up this morning under a severe grilling.

"SWAT THE FLY" GIVES WAY TO NEW SLOGAN "SMACK THE SKEETER"

It's a long way from cause to effect to say that a condorist in the bad lands is responsible for all the mosquitoes now seen and felt in Bismarck.

FEAR FOR SHIP IS SET AT REST

New York, July 9.—Fears for the safety of the passenger steamer Callao were set at rest when the Munson line was notified she had been sighted off San Juan, Porto Rico, last Tuesday and probably would arrive here next Tuesday.

CONDITION OF CROPS LITTLE BELOW AVERAGE

U. S. Representatives for North Dakota Issue Report on Situation

Grand Forks, July 9.—The condition of wheat, oats and barley in North Dakota is slightly below the average, according to the July 1 survey of the United States Bureau of Markets and crop estimates for North Dakota, statistician, was issued today and it shows that there has been an increased corn and potato acreage, a heavy cut in flax acreage and that the condition of the wheat, oats and barley crops is below the average while the condition of the other crops is average or better.

The July 1 wheat condition for the state is placed at 83 percent compared to 88 percent last year, and the average of 86 percent, indicating a production of 80,364,400 compared with 68,400,000 bushels last year and a five year average of 81,633,000.

Owing to spotted growth conditions in June and to record-breaking heat during the last ten days of the month over the entire state the crop condition with the exception of cultivated crops have suffered a severe setback the report says.

The southwestern quarter of the state shows extremely heavy damage with numerous reports of 50 percent or even greater damage to crops.

BRINTON FOUND NOT GUILTY IN PERJURY CASE

Judge Nuesse Issues Charge To Jury Which Retired at 10:30 This Morning

WEEKS ENDS ARGUMENT

Representative of State Closes Plea For Conviction Late Last Evening

The jury in the Brinton case reported in district court at 2:10 P. M., finding the defendant not guilty. E. A. Lewis, foreman, delivered the verdict, first thanking Judge Nuesse for the courtesy shown in the case. It was learned that out the first ballot the jurors were about fifty-fifty. After deliberation a second ballot found 10 for acquittal and two for conviction. The third ballot was for acquittal.

The jury in district court hearing the perjury charges against J. W. Brinton retired at 10 o'clock this morning after being instructed by Judge W. L. Nuesse as to the law in the case. At noon the jury went to lunch and resumed its deliberations this afternoon.

Judge Nuesse's Charge

Judge Nuesse's charge to the jury was in part as follows:

"You will note, gentlemen of the jury, that the state has in this information set out 24 assignments of perjury as I have heretofore explained to you. You will note that these assignments differ, one class charges the defendant with having testified falsely as to matters of fact. The second class charges the defendant with having testified falsely as to opinions, beliefs, conclusions or inferences. The third class charges the defendant with having testified as to mixed matters of facts, opinions, inferences or conclusions. I charge you, gentlemen, that while the state has set out 24 assignments of perjury in the information, I shall meet with the requirements of proof, as such requirements are explained in this charge, as to any one of such 24 assignments then, and in that event, your verdict will be a verdict of guilty of perjury as charged in the information."

"I charge you further, gentlemen of the jury, with reference to the respective assignments of perjury and each and all of them as set out and charged by the state in the information that before you can return a verdict of guilty on account of any one of such assignments the state must have established to the satisfaction of each and every one of you the falsity of each and all of the matters and things charged in such assignment to have been falsely testified to by the defendant. Proof by the state of one of the matters and things so charged in any one assignment, where more than one matter or thing is charged, is not sufficient to warrant a verdict of guilty, but the requirement is upon the state to prove each and every matter and thing as charged in that assignment."

What Must Be Proved.

"As to the element that the defendant's testimony was wilfully false and contrary to the oath taken by the defendant as a witness I charge you that it is for you gentlemen to determine the matter of falsity. You are to determine whether or not the defendant was honestly mistaken in testifying as he did. It is not enough to prove the testimony given or charged was false as to whether or not it was false is (continued on page 2)

AWAITING TRIAL

Mrs. Lyda Southard has been brought back from Honolulu to Twin Falls, Idaho, where she is to be tried for the murder of her fourth husband. The deaths of three other husbands, a brother-in-law and an infant child are being investigated.

DISTRICT WILL BE UNCHANGED

Will Make No Change In Estherville Township

The county commissioners have decided to make no change in the Estherville township school districts at present.

The board adopted the following resolution: "Resolved, that after considering the petitions for dividing Iowa school district No. 2, we, the county commissioners and county superintendent of schools of Pottawattamie county, believe that it is for the best interests of each part of the district that neither petition be accepted and we therefore reject both petitions for organization of new districts."

People outside of Regan asked a separation and Regan people made proposals for another separation.

FACTS FOR THE CITY TAXPAYER

A demand for reduction in tax budgets is sweeping the nation. It has found a very forceful expression in the appointment of Dawes to trim the federal expenditures so that the load may be lessened.

Cities and counties as well as smaller political subdivisions are tackling the problem with an earnestness born of necessity. Bismarck can well emulate the rest of the nation by cutting and trimming public expenditures.

It would be a fine stroke of business to rescind action on the bond election set for July 26 and by careful management save enough from the general tax income to put the Detention Hospital in shape and to buy a medium priced fire truck. Surely a way could be found without adding to the bonded debt to care for expenditures that should come from the general taxes.

The Duluth people chafing under a high tax load have organized a Taxpayers' league. It has employed an attorney to see where the money goes and what economies can be effected.

There is no intention to muck-rake officials or indulge in personalities, just an honest desire to accomplish something toward decreased public expenditures and also to see that the taxpayers get a dollar's value out of every public dollar disbursed.

The Tribune has tried to handle the situation in Bismarck in the same spirit of fairness.

Duluth's action was taken following an examination into city affairs by a committee made up of members of the Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions' clubs.

While there may be no field for a taxpayers' league in a city of this size, citizens of Bismarck tonight will apply themselves to a closer study of city affairs, but merely for purposes of criticism, but to assist and to cooperate with members of the city commission.

LOYD GEORGE WILL DISCUSS PEACE WITH IRISH "PRESIDENT"

Basis For Formal Conference Between Two Leaders Will Be Discussed—De Valera Calls Halts on Bloodshed and Crown Forces Lay Down Arms and Fraternize With Civilians in Dublin.

Dublin, July 9.—(By the Associated Press.)—Eamonn De Valera, the Republican leader, issued a manifesto this afternoon urging national unity during the peace negotiations "with unbending determination to endure all that is necessary." With his manifesto is coupled a warning against undue confidence in the result.

London, July 9.—(By the Associated Press.)—Premier Lloyd George will, it was authoritatively stated this afternoon, accept Eamonn De Valera's proposal of yesterday and meet the Republican leader to discuss the basis for a formal conference. The meeting probably will occur next week.

The only thing remaining is the fixing of the date which Mr. Lloyd George will name in his reply to De Valera's letter.

The government is subordinating all other problems of state to the question of Irish peace and is bending every effort toward preparation for the meeting.

To Cease All Attacks
The Irish office stated this afternoon that Eamonn De Valera has issued instructions to his supporters to cease all attacks on Crown Forces and civilians and discontinue military maneuvers of all kinds.

The instructions from Mr. De Valera, the Irish office said, also were to prohibit the use of arms, to abstain from interference with public or private property and to discontinue and prevent action likely to cause disturbance of the peace which might necessitate military interference.

The instructions, it was added, were effective from noon on Monday. An air of the greatest optimism this morning pervaded No. 10 Downing street, the premier's official residence, and the Irish office where the belief was freely voiced that there was every reason to hope that bloodshed in Ireland was nearing an end.

TRAFFIC RULES ARE PROPOSED BY CITY CHIEF

Police Head Would Have All Cars Back Into the Curb and Head Out

WOULD ZONE THE CITY

Proposal is to Establish Regulations Governing the Downtown District

Proposals for new traffic regulations probably will be made by Chief of Police Martinson as a result of a study of traffic laws of other cities and consideration of difficulties encountered here. The city commission has informally talked over traffic regulations on several occasions. Police Commissioner Hender believes that should be some regulations made.

The chief feature of Chief Martinson's plan is that automobiles parking in the downtown district would be required to back into the curb and head out. He said that during his trip to the police chief's convention at St. Louis he talked with a number of representatives of both small and large cities who said this plan had reduced the number of automobile accidents.

Diagonal parking lines would be drawn from the curb. Each automobile would be required to park within the white-washed lines. There would be seven feet of space allowed for each automobile, enough to allow the parking of the machine and give a space between cars so that people might get in and out of them easily.

The Traffic Zone.
The traffic zone would include the territory between Sixth and Second streets and Main and Thayer streets. Machines would not be permitted to park within several feet of a street intersection. Chief Martinson does not favor parking in the middle of the streets, saying the streets are not wide enough to justify it and does not favor a time limit on parking downtown.

Many accidents have been reported, he said, by people who head their cars into the curb and then back out into a crowded street. Several have backed into the state street car on Fourth street. Chief Martinson also wants a stringent penalty for having faulty brakes on an automobile.

The sending of reinforcements shall be suspended.

Police functions in Dublin shall be carried on by the metropolitan police. These directions are effective from noon Monday.

Former Pugilistic Champion Leaves Federal Prison Today

Leavenworth, Kan., July 9.—Jack Johnson, former heavyweight pugilistic champion, was released from Leavenworth prison shortly before 10 o'clock this morning after serving 10 months of a sentence for violation of the Mann act.

It's a good read one year but he was a good time for not being a troublesome prisoner. A fine of $1,000 which had to be paid before he could be released today was paid yesterday.

Johnson, who was the former champion, arrived yesterday from Chicago to be with his wife and children.

BUNCHED HITS WIN FRAY WITH WILTON, 5 TO 0

Bismarck Club Scores Victory Here in Twilight Game

Bismarck took Wilton into camp, 5 to 0, in a contest last evening which indicated that the locals are in fine fettle for the big battle with Moorbridge at Linton Sunday, July 10.

Taylor and Higgins divided the pitching honors for Bismarck. Taylor struck out 8 men in five innings, allowing three hits. Higgins struck out 8 men in four innings, allowing no hits. Both pitched easy ball.

Flaherty pitched a good game for Wilton, but Bismarck's 11 hits were bunched chiefly in two innings. Layman, Coble and Ellis got two hits each in two different innings, all being bunched. Layman played third base and Coble was on first, a position he has played before, in Andier's shoes. The entire local team played good ball. Layman made a couple of remarkable catches of foul balls. Higge and McGovern, of Mandan, played with Wilton.

Flaherty pitched fine ball in the sixth inning when with three men on bases on three straight hits he fanned the next man, forced the next man to pop to first and fanned the third, getting himself out of a fine hole. The crowd gave him a hand.

SHAMROCK DANGEROUS
New York July 8.—Returning from a visit to her old home in Ireland, Mrs. E. A. Shapks brought along a bit of the "ould sod" with shamrocks growing in it. Customs officials ruled shamrock came under the head of "dangerous plant fungi" and Mrs. Shanks had to throw it in the Atlantic.

ENGLAND FACES
POSTAL DEFICIT;
CALLS FOR AID

London July 9.—The Postmaster General has called the business men of Great Britain to aid him in solving the problem of how to operate the postal, telegraph and telephone services efficiently and without a deficit.

A council of business men has been appointed to assist in the management of the department. H. Gordon Selfridge the American merchant in London is one of the 19 appointees. The others include bank directors, presidents of Chambers of Commerce, railroad managers and other leaders of industry. One is a newspaper proprietor, Viscount Burnham of the London Daily Telegraph.

The Postoffice Department estimates for the current year show a deficit of 3,000,000 pounds. The Postmaster General had proposed to cover this by increasing the rates on the second class mail but now this project has been abandoned.

The question why the department should show a loss has been the subject of much debate in the newspapers. The department has a monopoly in the United Kingdom of the mails, telegraphs and telephone thus making it the greatest business in the country. Yet on a combined revenue of 70,000,000 pounds a year it has been run at a loss. One writer has attributed the deficit to the doubling of the penny postage on letters which took place during the war and its retention since.

BRINTON CASE GOES TO JURY IN DIST COURT

only incidental. The question is: Did the defendant know the testimony he gave was false or did he make an unqualified statement as the fact which he knew he did not know to exist? The defendant in this case does not have to prove that his testimony was true or that he was honestly mistaken. The burden is on the state to establish by his whole case to the satisfaction of each and every one of you gentlemen that my testimony charged by the state to have been false given by the defendant was in fact falsely given by him within the meaning of that term as I define it in these instructions. The offense consists in swearing falsely and corruptly without probable cause of belief not in swearing rashly or inconsiderately according to belief. The false oath taken from inadvertence or mistake cannot amount to voluntary and corrupt perjury.

Determining Probable Cause

In determining what is probable cause in this case and in passing upon the question of the falsity of any testimony the defendant may have given you must determine that probable cause not from your standpoint nor from mine but from the standpoint of the defendant at the time he gave such testimony—that is, you must look at this matter through the defendant's eyes as he then saw it. You must hear through the defendant's ears as he heard these matters upon which he may have formed any inference, opinion or conclusion.

The test is: Did the defendant at the time he gave the testimony in question honestly believe that which he said to be true? Then and in that event even though the same was not true and even though such belief as its truth was rashly and inconsiderately formed may more even though a little diligence on his part would have enabled him to discover its falsity yet if he was honest in so believing he cannot be guilty of the crime of perjury as charged in the information and your verdict must be a verdict of not guilty.

I charge you gentlemen that the giving of wilful false testimony in a manner calling for the exercise of judgment and expression of opinion may constitute the crime of perjury if he who so testifies wilfully and corruptly refrains from exercising his judgment and giving expression to his real opinion but in such case the state must establish beyond a reasonable doubt the wilful failure and refusal to exercise an honest judgment and I further charge you that where the testimony which is the basis of an assignment of perjury is a matter of construction and deduction from given matters and things the mere fact that it is erroneous or is not a correct construction or is not a logical deduction from all the matters and things on which it is based or from which it is drawn cannot make it perjury. The test is: Was such opinion belief conclusion or inference wilfully false or erroneous?

Intent Is Gist.

In this case the intent is the gist of the offense charged against the defendant in the information. If he testified falsely in order to make his case the state must establish beyond a reasonable doubt that he testified so wilfully and in this case the intent must be derived from the evidence of the acts and things of the words spoken if any were spoken in connection with the other evidence in the case and it is for you to say from the evidence in the case whether or not an intent existed in the mind of the defendant at the time of the alleged offense to speak falsely or to speak that as the truth which he did not know to be the truth.

Judge Nease's entire charge was some 10,000 words in length. It included a full recitation of the information against Brinton and the usual explanations regarding the doctrine of reasonable doubt, reliability of evidence and other detailed explanation of the law.

LeSueur Violent.

Arthur LeSueur, Brinton's counsel in his address to the jury which consumed seven hours characterized the raising of $99,000 for new stock in the Scandinavian American bank as an effort to drag in attorneys to help make them pay debts of the institution created by the mismanagement of league corporations.

He referred to a fund in the minute books of the Scandinavian American bank raising a letter from F. B. Wood, the executive committee member of the National Nonpartisan league, in which he authorized

PRIZES IN BATTLE OF LOVE AGAINST WEALTH

RICH GRANDMOTHER SUING FOR CHILDREN WILLED TO OTHERS

BY ALICE ROHE

Fanwood N. J. July 1.—Is love of wealth more important for the welfare of a child?

Is true friendship or blood relationship of greater consequence?

These are the basic points in one of the most unusual guardianship cases in the history of the courts.

On the broad lawn of a comfortable "home" place at Fanwood I found Marian Read Holliday and Millicent Read Holliday having a lovely time quite oblivious to the public interest centered in them.

These little girls were willed by their mother to Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Sherwood of Fanwood.

Incidentally the mother left $60,000 in trust to each child to become hers at the age of 21. Sherwood who is treasurer and trustee of the Dr. Dock Savings Institution is executor

The contrast.

In the Sherwood home the children have love, helpful interest—and every essential comfort.

But their grandmother Mrs. Susie Church Holliday of Brooklyn is suing to obtain possession of them. And in her petition she sets forth that she could give the children wealth and a king's care—and social position too.

"Is your mother in?" I asked Marian knowing that the children called the Sherwood's mother and daddy.

My real mother is in heaven," she said quickly, but my mother I live with in the house. I'll get her.

Mrs. Sherwood a young woman who evinces deep affection and in the love for the little orphans appeared on the lawn.

Millicent or "Bobs" as she is called was immediately in her lap and Marian was clinging about her neck.

The are such affectionate little girls," she said, "that I couldn't bear to think of losing them.

They are just like my own. Why I taught Bobs how to walk. Her name and I were the most of friends just as the children father and my husband were great friends.

Read Holliday died four years ago and his wife nearly two years ago.

When Mrs. Holliday knew she was doomed," says Mrs. Sherwood, "she asked me if I would care for her children. I already loved them for they had been with us a great deal during their parents' illness so I agreed most readily."

The grandmother naturally has a truly maternal interest in the children but they have seen very little of her and as the wee sisters say—

We are very very happy here."

Open to the public every evening for dining and dancing except when engaged for private parties. The Dining Car Room which adorns the Roof, will be open every Wednesday and Saturday evenings, service A La Carte. A Special Sunday Evening Dinner will be served a-top the McKenzie every Sunday at the regular Sunday Dinner price. Patrons of the Roof and guests of the Hotel and their friends are invited to attend the open Air Concert every Sunday Evening. Come up and watch Bismarck and Mandan grow a-top the McKenzie Hotel.

the crediting of a fund of $98,807.11 subscribed for new stock in the bank to capital and surplus. The notes said the money was held in the bank in the name of F. C. Heaton. The authorization was given a little more than a month before the bank closed its doors.

There isn't a prominent league who bought stock," said LeSueur. This thing means that all the power is centered on the farmer to get him to come in and make good the debt created. The men on the inside knew the institution was broke flat and they went out and got money from farmers for new stock. Did perjury ever reach a sublimer height or more degraded depth?

He advanced his theory of what he thought happened to this money," raised. He declared that the league stirred up all the talk about the institution being attacked and fellows out raising subscriptions on the strength of it and then delivered his solemn opinion that the entry is false and the stock was never issued but that it was shown the stock was transferred so as to make these purchasers pay twice.

He declared that there was no evidence that the money was there except the record that it was deposited to the account of F. C. Heaton and he asserted that he believed Heaton was the goat and he hopes he would tell the truth about the inside of the matter.

Mrs. Pitts of Newburgh

Newburgh, N. Y.—"My trouble was a weak back and I could not walk two blocks without being tired out. I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in a newspaper and decided to give it a trial. Now I can do my own work and walk with ease. I always keep the Vegetable Compound in the house. It certainly is my best friend and I could not keep house without it. I have recommended it to many and always shall. You may use this letter if you wish."—Mrs. Edward Pitts, 2 High St., Newburgh, N. Y.

It has been said that "backache is an invention of the Evil One to try women's souls," but even so, it is more often a symptom of a female trouble which sooner or later declares itself. Day after day it drags a woman down and night after night prevents restful sleep. Such women should follow Mrs. Pitts' advice and try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and regain health. Letters about your health will be given careful attention and held in strict confidence if you write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. Their experience of over 40 years is at your service.

Greatest Economic Problems
Is Distribution"

PRESIDENT HARDING in a recent address declared that "one of the greatest economic problems, if not the greatest, is distribution. There can be no doubt of the position of the good roads movement in the solution of the problem. I believe that Federal and State Governments must not only create good roads but they must insist upon the maintenance of good roads. A good road gone wrong is a streak of memorial to neglect and waste. The roads we build must be built for use in the distribution of products rather than for merely pleasure riding. We must foster the use of motor trucks."

The expression of the chief executive of our nation is but a confirmation of the experiences of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) in the conduct of its business.

The problems of distribution are of paramount importance and in effecting this distribution, good roads are a primary essential.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has in operation more than 4000 motor trucks engaged in distributing gasoline, kerosene and lubricating oils to ultimate consumers in 11 Middle Western States. It is the business of this department to attempt to furnish Standard Oil products to whoever may require them, wherever he may live.

To supplement the tank wagon, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) maintains a network of service stations, located on the main traveled highways, every few miles in the country and every few blocks in the city.

Through its highly specialized organization, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) manufactures from crude petroleum the three factors necessary to a solution of the problems of distribution.

Stanolind Paving Asphalt for good roads—enduring roads.

Red Crown, the high-grade gasoline, for power—tremendous power.

Polarine, the perfect motor oil, for lubrication—correct lubrication.

In the manufacture of these products, the Company has set as a measure of value, specifications which it believes insure the user the utmost of service at a minimum of expense. Its products are made to exact standards, and these standards are based upon a careful, exhaustive study of the conditions under which they will be used. All are uniform in quality and go to the consumer with the Company's guarantee that they are exactly as represented.

MISS ANNA HUBER MARRIED AT HOME

Miss Anna Catherine Huber and Mr. Oscar Selvig were married this morning at the bride's home in this city at the hour of ten, Rev. G. H. Quigley, officiating. The wedding was a very quiet one on account of the recent death of the bride's father, Mr. Gottlieb Huber, only a few of the old and intimate friends of the family in addition to the immediate relatives of the contracting parties being present. The attendants were Mr. Christian S. and Miss Marie Huber, brother and sister of the bride. The decorations were pink roses and carnations. A wedding dinner was served. The young couple started this afternoon by auto for a trip to Minnesota and Wisconsin where, in Barron on the fifteenth of this month, they will attend the golden wedding of the parents of the groom. On their return they will make their home in Bismarck for a time.

Both the bride and groom are well known in this city and have a large circle of friends. Mr. Selvig has resided here fourteen years, while Mrs. Selvig has lived here all her life and is a graduate of the Bismarck high school. Since her mother's death a few years ago, she has kept house for the family. They have the best wishes of a host of friends.

SCHOOL STARTS MONDAY

It is expected that a large number of Bismarck ladies will take advantage of the free domestic science course to be offered at the American Legion hall next week. These lectures are to take in all kinds of cooking, including explanations of all the most modern electrical devices for broiling, frying and baking. Two lectures will be given each day—the morning lecture to begin at 9:30 and last till 11:30. The afternoon lecture starts at 2 o'clock and will last until 4.

Starting Monday the lectures are to be held every day next week. The special advantages of Mazola as a cooking and salad oil will be pointed out and proved in the most conclusive way, by demonstration. All ladies who attend these lectures are requested to bring notebooks and pencils and all are invited to ask as many questions as they wish about any domestic problem. It is hoped that the ladies of Bismarck will take advantage of this school and that it will be well attended.

EXAM FOR WINCHESTER PRIZE
The examination for the pupils who have completed the eighth grade for the Winchester prize will be held Wednesday, July 20, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon at the county court house. There are three children from Bismarck and six from the rural districts competing for the prize. All the competitors have grades near 100 and so it all depends on whose answers are best.

The three Bismarck children are Arthur Bender, Dorothy Birdzell, and Tillie Peterson. The six rural children competing are: Lillian Watson, McKenzie; Kathryn Cleveland, Grass Lake; Bergetta Fossett, Ghylin; Ada Davis, Ghylin; Marion Hanson, Lein; and Edna Flannigan, Riverview.

BETTER HOMES, PLEA OF WOMAN BAPTISTS' HEAD

MRS. HELEN BARRETT MONTGOMERY

By Newspaper Enterprise.
Rochester, N. Y., July 9.—Better homes.

"That is the crying need in America today," says Mrs. Helen Barrett Montgomery, first woman to be elected president of the Northern Baptist Association. She was recently named at the Baptist convention at Des Moines, Ia.

In her new capacity Mrs. Montgomery has launched a "back to the Christian home" movement with the idea that it will stem the present wave of "carelessness and looseness in manners, dress and morals."

"I believe," says Mrs. Montgomery, "that we are at present in the backwash of the wave of general laxity of ideas, which came with the war, and which has come with every other war in history."

"It is only since the war that we have seen women painting, powdering and bleaching. But already I believe the tide is swinging back to more normal standards of living."

Prison officials say that only a small percentage of those who have been brought up in god homes, find their way into the prisons of the country.

(Established 1873)

MORALE

The government, in establishing a welfare department for postal employees, is applying a lesson learned in the war.

It was then demonstrated clearly that morale plays an extremely important part in fighting and in business. The spirit considered essential to the winning of battles will win business contests.

Yet how many Bismarck employers have neglected to profit by this lesson of the war!

OVER-STUDY

Princeton University reports that only one of its students has died from overstudy in 40 years. And he didn't die because he exercised his brain too much, but because, while applying himself to study, he exercised the rest of his body not at all.

We quote Ben Franklin: "I fear not too much labor of mind, but I fear for the body that doth not exert itself in due proportion to the mind."

This is good counsel for all who work in offices. If you haven't time for any other kind of exercise, try walking.

ACCOMPLISHMENT

A year ago it seemed impossible that war between Sweden and Finland could be avoided, so determined was each nation to have its way in respect of the Aland Islands.

Ultimatums had been exchanged and the armies were on the march. Then the League of Nations interposed. Reluctantly both nations consented to give the league a chance and to commit no act of war while the league was performing its function of taking testimony and rendering a judgment.

The pledges, given in good faith, were kept and what threatened to be a war that might easily again have set Europe on fire, merged into a judicial proceeding.

The question whether the League of Nations can prevent war is no longer an academic one.

It has answered the question in the most practical way possible by doing it.

WATCHING THE DIET

According to Prof. E. N. McCollum of Johns-Hopkins University, the average American should eat about half as much meat as he does if he would live to a ripe old age and keep his pep. More greens and milk are the substitutes recommended.

The professor speaks as a health expert, and if his advice were heeded, there isn't a bit of doubt that the doctors and undertakers would have a lot less to do.

The dinner table is a fair deadlier place than the battlefield because the vast majority of people cannot resist the temptation to eat too much of what appeals to their taste.

This is particularly true during hot weather, when, if one is as interested as he should be in keeping his body and mind in top condition, he should eat sparingly of the heavy concentrated foods. And above all, during hot weather, forget the alcohol and drink plenty of cool, not iced, water. Drink it with your meals, slowly, and between your meals. Start your day with a glassful and finish your day the same way.

The following of these simple rules will pay health dividends and greatly improve your disposition.

As a man thinks so is his car.

KNIGHTS OF THE KEY

You recall the days when the arrival of a telegram frightened a woman so much she was scared to open it, afraid some one was dead.

This fear is rapidly dying out, says a Western Union official. Telegrams are common. Night letters total millions yearly.

The most marvelous or fearful thing grows common-place through wide usage.

Telegrams have become so ordinary that few of us ever give a thought to the telegraph operator. His seems a humdrum, mechanical existence. Yet no trade or profession ever produced more unique, useful and devoted characters.

You owe a lot to the telegraph operator. For one thing, the telegraph news you read in The Tribune.

Often you read about some telegraph operator who has risen to the presidency of a railroad. Thomas Edison, the inventor, for years was a "Knight of the Key." So were Frank Munsey, William Gillette, George V. Hobart and Andrew Carnegie.

"My Friend From India," one of the best American comedies, was written by a telegrapher—Harry Desouchet. You know the "Evolution" poem which starts, "When you were a tadpole and I was a fish." Written by Langdon Smith, once telegraph operator for the United Press.

So they go, on the roll of fame, into the thousands.

A veteran operator was John M. Carnahan, who began handling a key in 1861. In 1876 he was operator at Bismarck, N. D., then the farthest-west wire station. Stopping for only brief intervals, Carnahan sat at his key for nearly 80 hours and "sent" the story of the Custer Massacre, a time feat that, it is said, has never since been duplicated.

At the time of the great Galveston flood, wires were down and there was no way to get relief appeals to the outside world.

Richard Spillane, a former telegraph operator, now a business writer, was managing editor of a Galveston newspaper. In an old steam launch, assisted by a cotton broker, Spillane defied the hurricane, crossed the bay and, reaching land, tramped on through the night into Houston.

There he got to a key and for hours wired appeals for help, followed by news stories.

He had made the trip in carpet slippers. Their dye soaked out and poisoned his feet, which were so swollen that when he finished telegraphing he had to be lifted out of his chair.

The details of Spillane's dash for help make the movies seem tame. But it's typical of the men who have given the world its telegraph news and personal wire messages since Samuel Morse invented the telegraph in 1837.

The concert of nations is a howling success.

Congress don't argue over a bill as long as some husbands do.

EDITORIAL REVIEW

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

A DRAMATIC BEGINNING

That was a dramatic scene in Washington, when Mr. Dawes, director of the new budget system, brought together before the President and the cabinet more than 600 bureau chiefs and other officials who spend Uncle Sam's money for the first conference in the interest of economy of administration.

The President "opened the meeting" with the statement that "there is no menace to the world today like growing public indebtedness and mounting expenditures." This conference, he said, was an evidence of the necessity of adopting extraordinary methods to meet extraordinary conditions.

With this introduction from the President, Mr. Dawes sprang from the platform where he had been sitting with the President and identifying himself with the official group, addressed the President and the cabinet members. Speaking as one of them and yet as their leader, he pleaded with, threatened and advised the official group, and then calling them all to their feet and raising his hand as if taking an oath he recited this pledge to the President:

"These men, of whom I am one, realize the perplexity of your position—realize that the business of the country is prostrate, that its working men are out of employment, that we are faced with the inexorable necessity of reducing expenditures, and we propose, just as we did four years ago when we undertook to win the war, to make every possible effort toward reducing expenses."

Mr. Dawes says he is not going to run a detective bureau or hunt for information from a washwoman or a vice president, but that the President has a right to the information as to the expenditures of the government, just as the president of a business corporation has the right to know what is being done with the company's money; that the responsibility belongs to the President and he is entitled to full knowledge of all the facts. And then, turning to the bureau officials, he showed his teeth, so to speak, by saying: "I have the powers of the President to get the facts and they will be exercised."

Mr. Dawes knows all about the disposition of bureau chiefs to get from Congress all the money Congress will let them have, for he said, I have been a bureau chief and I have done the same thing. But now it is going to be different. His reputation, he said, it at stake and he is going to cut the $225,000 appropriation made for the establishment of the budget system 25 per cent if it costs him his salary.

The press accounts do not report any references to "hell and Maria," but the language used by the budget director gives assurance quite as complete as his more picturesque utterances on another occasion that he is the man for the job. He has staked his reputation on carrying it through to a successful conclusion. There is nothing the country wants more today than that, and what will happen to Mr. Dawes if he succeeds it is a little early to predict. Mr. Harding may want two terms.—Minneapolis Tribune.

SATURDAY EVENING LETTER
(By Chief Justice Robinson.)

July 9, 1921.

In the letter of last Saturday we gave a detailed statement of the funds by the state treasurer for the year 1920 amounting to $9,166,187.98, and 1921 taxes collected during the first five months amounting to $4,437,153.14. The following is a continuation or an additional statement of monies collected by the state treasurer for the year 1920 and 1921:

	1920	1921 to May
Secretary of State, fees.....	$ 25,618.14	$ 5,759.95
Secretary of State, incorporation tax.....	81,837.01	5,909.07
Commissioner of Insurance, fees.....	324,319.52	363,828.85
Clerk of Supreme Court, fees.....	1,476.55	615.10
Com. of Agriculture and Labor.....	1,264.76	507.75
Land Department, fees.....	10,759.50	8,799.50
State Examiner, fees.....	50,494.26	15,114.40
Miscellaneous General Fund Collections.....	625,883.03	292,111.75

Experimental Creamery.....	8,058.63	3,291.72
State Bar Fund.....	8,315.00	6,875.00
Fire and Tornado Fund.....	$8,304.96	21,611.47
State Bonding Fund.....	41,564.70	35,714.01
Total.....	$10,818,989.81	$5,325,692.73

About 25 per cent of the taxes for 1920 remain uncollected. By adding this to the sum collected you will find that for the year 1920 the total state taxes was in excess of thirteen and one-half million dollars. You will readily see that is twice the sum of a reasonable state tax. For these two years the regular state tax levy was based on the assessment of the years 1919 and 1920; and in those years Governor Frazier and Wm. Langer were in control of the State Board of Equalization. By adding a large per cent to the assessed valuations they boosted the state and local tax levies. We must learn to place the blame or responsibility where it belongs and to give unto Caesar that which is Caesar's.

In the year of Our Lord, 1921—in August—GOVERNOR FRAZIER AND WM. LEMKE will be in control of the State Board of Equalization and will levy the regular state tax which are based on assessed valuations. The question is, "how much will they reduce the assessments and the tax levies?" Will they make a reduction equal the advance of the former two years? If so, it would knock some wind out of the recall.

Do you know why it is that the state and local taxes amount to such an enormous figure? Do you know why the state appoints tax commissioners and tax supervisors to build up such a colossal system of taxation? The reason is that those who are in office and who levy the state and local taxes prefer to handle a large sum rather than a small sum because there is a greater chance for part of it to stick to the fingers of themselves or their friends. As the tax question is everybody's business it is nobody's business. Nobody cares to assume the burden of a public accounting or of calling indignation meetings to expose the wrongs by showing exact figures. Few, if any, know where to place responsibility, where to turn for relief and how to obtain redress.

The political leaders who demand a recall talk against high taxes, but they do not point to any means of relief. They do not denounce the big state nurslings and the appropriations. Their general talk amounts to nothing. The tax madmen call for specific remedies. The law-makers of last session all denounced the high taxes and yet they boosted the taxes by making excessive appropriations and they refused to consider remedial tax legislation. The next regular session of the law-makers will not be until 1923 and their laws will not take effect until July, 1923. That is two years from the present time, and even then there is no assurance of any good laws.

As I view the situation, aside from such relief as may be given by the Governor and Wm. Lemke there is no available remedy, only by the submission and passage of some good initiative measures at the next state-wide election in June, 1922. But as there is a chance for a state-wide election in November, I submit the following:

"An act to provide for the assessment of property for taxation in accordance with the former simple and inexpensive methods."

Be It Enacted by the People of the State of North Dakota.

For all Howly Thunder and Jumpy Lightning are such terrors, folks kind of like them.

For all Howly Thunder and Jumpy Lightning are such terrors, in all folks kind of like them. And for all Mr. Sprinkle-Blow was racking his poor worried brains for a plan to catch them and lock them up again, and Nancy and Nick were doing their very best to help him, there were plenty of people who were tickled most to pieces to hear those two rowdy fellows up in the sky. It had been a long time since Nancy and Nick had been up to ride on Sprinkle-Blow's umbrella, and the drops came so thick and fast that puddles appeared everywhere.

Under his pile of stones Sam Snake wiggled his tail delightfully. Why there's the first thunder of the season," he declared. "Now I can go out safely and look around howly promised that he'd beat his big drum for me when it was safe to go out. You see if I go out too soon, Jack Frost is likely to be snooping around, and he'd play a trick on me sure as anything. He'd at any time during the year 1921 without interest, penalty or costs.

Sec. 2. All sales made to the state or to any county for the delinquent tax for the year 1919 shall be cancelled and held void and within three months from the time of this act takes effect all and any delinquent taxes for the year 1919 may be paid without interest penalty or cost.

AN ACT IN REGARD TO THE TAXES OF 1920.

Be It Enacted by the People of the State of North Dakota.

Section 1. The unpaid real estate taxes for the year 1920 shall not be subject to any penalty whatever except interest at 6 per cent a year from and after November 1st, 1921. Now it seems a few public spirited citizens might well incur the small cost of printing a few hundred copies of such bills and obtaining signatures to the number of 10,000 and then filing the bills in the office of the Secretary of State during the month of July. That would make a beginning.

As it seems the proper thing is for the League Managers to submit well considered measures to reduce taxes and to liquidate the state bank and reorganize it on a basis similar to that of the Federal Reserve Banks, and to reorganize the State Industries and put the same on a business like basis. "Xenophon became as famous for a masterly retreat as for a great victory. Some of the greatest generals and statesmen have been wise enough to save themselves and their followers by persisting in wrong is folly and madness. The high taxes and the new fangled taxes, must get and, as now organized, the state bank must go. Its depositors will assuredly tire of paying on their checks protest fees to the amount of $100.00 a day. That is no banking.

I do know how my friends of the League may save the Ship of State. They must throw overboard half the tax burdens and several Jonahs.

TELLS OF VISIT TO EX-KAISER

By Newspaper Enterprise.

Copenhagen, July 9.—Frederick Poulsen, a physician, has a letter from a Dutch professor who described a visit to the former kaiser in exile at Doorn.

The former emperor has aged considerably, the letter says. His hair and beard are snow white. He speaks nervously and his eyes have a restless expression.

Speaking of the German revolution the former emperor declared that "the splendid German soldiers" would never have revolted had they not been subjected to "some low influence."

The ex-kaiser seemed intensely interested in revolutionary movements in all parts of the world.
